We'll work with you to develop plans for your operation, including a schedule for purchasing inputs that works best for you. As leaders in crop protection and precision agronomy, ALCIVIA's agronomy team develops intelligent solutions for your production needs. Our innovative YieldEDGE® precision ag technology and information mapping helps you make data-driven decisions for your crop.

ALCIVIA offers a wide variety of hybrids, crop nutrition options, and crop protection solutions tailored to fit your production goals. We use high-performing genetics and industry-leading technology platforms to provide the right trait on every acre.

PROFESSIONAL AGRONOMY SERVICES

Precision Ag – When it comes to Ag technology, we'll help you sort through the noise and choose a path that works best for you and your operation.

- Soil and Tissue Sampling
- Scouting
- Variable Rate Tech

Seed Solutions – Using only the best genetics, and the industry-leading technology platforms of R7® and Climate FieldView®, ALCIVIA's agronomists and precision ag experts are committed to maximizing your investment.

Crop Nutrition – Our agronomists take soil health and fertility very seriously. Before your seed is in the ground, your ALCIVIA agronomist ensures the seed has an optimal growing environment. Soil health isn't just about the macronutrients, but also the micronutrients.

Crop Protection – With our diverse crops and soils, you need a partner who is on top of the latest developments in crop protection. Using satellite imaging technology and in-field crop scouting, your agronomist identifies potential issues and deploys solutions before they become real problems. Whether it's new chemistries, branded products versus generics, or new agronomic threats, we have the knowledge to deliver what's needed for your fields.
